AA - Advanced Automation

Advanced Automation, also known as AA, is a technical SMP that was founded in March 2018 by Zundappchef. The server stood out as one of the only tech SMP's to be hosted using a Realm, which allowed console and mobile players to access the server more easily at the time. Due to some internal conflict, the server was reset and a new set of members were recruited in May 2019. Due to the SMP being hosted on a Real, the server had the interesting challenge of having to design farms and redstone contraptions to run on the lower powered official Real servers. Realms also affected mob farming as they were reduced to a smaller simulation distance and mob spawning radius.
